Attorney-General Should Be Suspended From Office Says City's Third Member

"The Most Diabolical Act of Its Kind in Annals of English-Speaking Race," Says Mr. H. D. Twigg, Denouncing Government's Dealings With Doukhobors for Purposes of Grand Forks By-Election

Premier Advised to Ask Return To Province of Peace River Lands

DEMAND for the suspension of Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, until such time as a complete investigation had been made of the part that Minister had played in the Doukhobor seizure and sale of goods, and other charges against him in connection with the Grand Forks-Greenwood by-election, was made in the Legislature yesterday by H. Despard Twigg, third member for Victoria in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Mr. Twigg charged that the seizure of the belongings of the Doukhobor community, near Grand Forks, and the subsequent sale by auction of their goods, was arranged for political purposes, between the Liberal candidate, who is now the sitting member for the constituency, and the Attorney-General. He described the incident as being the "most diabolical act of its kind in the history of the English-speaking race." He further alleged that the seizure was carried out in the by-election following the death of Mr. John McKie, had frankly told the voters of the riding that they need not expect as much for their district if they elected the Conservative nominee as they could if they returned Mr. McPherson, the Liberal candidate. He also charged that the Government had sent a man to the farmers of the district who were in arrears in their payments to the Government in connection with the irrigation system, to threaten them that if they did not vote for the Liberal candidate they would be pressed for payment, and if necessary dispossessed of their farms.

Boyston Case
The Victoria member also criticized the Government on other matters, including the granting of a foreclose lease to a Japanese company at Boyston, which, he said, was done despite protest from white residents of the district; and the manner in which the absentee voters had been carried out in the Province during the last Provincial election. He declared that there were upwards of 2,800 names on the Vancouver list, which could not be identified with persons who actually resided in the city.

Contested Elections
After complimenting the mover of the reply to the address from the Throne (Mr. J. M. Ryan, North Vancouver) as "the absentee member upon his absentee speech," Mr. Twigg turned his attention to the contested election case. He read extensively from the judgment of the court where an effort was made to unseat Mr. J. H. Colley, the Kamloops member, in which His Lordship had set out the history of the friendly action which had been taken when rumors were circulated that Mr. Colley had been good to the Government after his nomination. The Kamloops member, he said, had rushed to Victoria, where he had conferred with the Attorney-General, who had summoned Mr. Clearhue, Liberal lawyer, who in turn had induced Mr. Drake, a defeated Liberal candidate, and a very estimable citizen, to act as plaintiff in the case.

"I want to tell the member for Kamloops," Mr. Twigg said, "that while he may have been acquitted in the court of law, that there is another court, the Court of Honor, of which members of this House are supposed to be judges, and that he has been arraigned before that court, and has been found guilty."

The Conservative member proceeded to read from "The Candellight," a campaign publication issued by the Liberals in the Grand Forks-Greenwood by-election.

Man Killed at Crossing

ORHAWA, Ont., Nov. 5.—James Bennett, of Bowmanville, was instantly killed, and William Vinson, East Wilby Township farmer, seriously injured this morning when the motor car in which they were driving was struck by a westbound Canadian National train at a crossing three miles east of here.

Industry Probe Advocated for Maritime Area

Cheaper Transportation, Agricultural and Mineral Development, Provincial Advertising Seen as Needs

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Nov. 5.—The Maritime Boards of Trade, at the opening session today, took up the subject of industrial development of the Maritime Provinces.

The report of the committee of the St. John board on that subject recommended that a complete industrial survey of the Maritimes be made at the joint expense of the three provincial governments and by an expert concern recommended by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, such surveys having been made of many United States centres to remarkable advantage.

The industrial needs of the Maritimes were summed up as follows:

1. Lower freight rates to and from the West.
2. Cheap water transportation to Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Port William during the summer.
3. Improved steamship service to Mediterranean ports and other overseas ports.
4. An agricultural resurrection.
5. The practical development of Maritime mineral potentialities and necessary amendment to mining regulations.
6. Genuine interest in export possibilities.
7. Provincial advertising on an effective scale.
8. More population through immigration.
9. Effective means to prevent large Canadian firms from hampering small new Maritime industries by unfair price cutting.

Two-Minute Silence To Mark Armistice

Hush to Descend on Empire at Eleven O'clock Wednesday Morning

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Once again the British Empire will honor the memory of those who died in the Great War by a two-minute silence at eleven o'clock today. The following statement was approved by the Canadian Cabinet, and made public this evening.

In accordance with arrangements for the observance of Armistice Day, sanctioned by His Majesty the King, the people of Canada are invited to mark the occasion by a two-minute silence at 11 a.m., on Wednesday, November 11. This is a special observance suggested by His Majesty, and in addition to the regular celebration of the day recognized by the Canadian Parliament for the previous Monday.

Liberal Leads

QUEBEC, Nov. 5.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon word received by long-distance telephone stated that with seven polls yet to be heard from, in the Bonaventure election, Hon. Charles Marcell, Liberal, was leading Major Theodore Paquet, Conservative, by 277 votes, their respective figures being: Marcell, 3,845, and Paquet, 3,465.

Departing Guests Insured by Hotel

Billion Dollar Policy to Cover Visitors for Two Days After Departure

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A group insurance policy for $1,000,000,000 during the first year of its life to protect its guests for forty-eight hours after they leave the hotel has been taken out by the Hotel-Cadillac Hotel of Detroit, through the Missouri State Life Insurance Company of St. Louis. The policy is expected to cover 500 guests through the average forty-eight-hour period.

Under the plan the hotel guest is automatically covered against loss of life or limb, or disability caused by accident, when he checks out of the hotel, the exact time of departure being stamped on the policy handed him. The policy provides for the payment of $1,000 for loss of life, $2,500 for loss of limb and $25 weekly for wholly disabling injuries. The guest is not required to furnish any information or to go through any legal procedure in obtaining the policy, which is handed him with his receipt bill.

Bagley Given 10-Year Term, Twenty Lashes

Fifth Bandit Convicted of Share in Robbery of Nanaimo Bank—Jury Out Two Hours

Pals Vainly Swear Prisoner Innocent

Johnson and Stone Take Stand to Deny Accused Was Member of Holdup Party

NANAIMO, Nov. 5.—(Special to The Colonist)—William Bagley, charged with participating in the $42,000 robbery of the Nanaimo branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here last December, was this morning found guilty and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment and two whippings of ten lashes each.

The jury retired to consider its verdict at 10:45 p.m. and at 12:35 this morning returned with a verdict of guilty.

Bagley will be taken to Oakalla by the morning boat to commence serving sentence.

Bagley makes the fifth to be convicted of the robbery. Harry Stone, in the first of the gang to go to prison, admitting his guilt at his preliminary hearing here two months ago. A month later T. H. Johnson, Edward Gorman and Alfred Castro similarly pleaded guilty. All four got sentences of eight years' imprisonment and twenty lashes.

Two other men sought in connection with the robbery were Clarence (Dick) Schively and Edward Burns, alias Gambertoll. B. C. authorities were unable to extradite Schively owing to the failure of his appeal against a U. S. conviction and subsequent incarceration in an American prison. Gambertoll is supposed to have escaped to the Orient.

Johnson, eighth man figuring in the case, was acquitted at Nanaimo this week at his second trial.

Vancouver Protests Rupert Grain Order

Edmonton Rate Ruling Declared by Mayor Taylor to Be Gross Injustice

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5.—Renewed effort to secure equalization of freight rates was made today by Vancouver citizens today by Mayor Louis D. Taylor, who advocated that a public meeting be held immediately to protest against a lower grain rate over the route to the Board of Railway Commissioners.

"I am informed on the best of authority," said Mayor Taylor, "that an order of the Board of Railway Commissioners has been issued, putting in effect a lower grain rate over the route to the Board of Railway Commissioners than from Edmonton to Prince Rupert. The haul in the first case is 555 miles and in the second 754 miles."

"The effect of the order granting a special export rate on grain to Prince Rupert is to discriminate against Vancouver of the worst kind, and in addition is a hardship on the Canadian National Railways, which will be forced to carry grain over the longer route at a lower rate. Having held the Government elevator at Prince Rupert the effort is now to provide something to keep that white elephant going."

Ruling Non-Existent
OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Apparently no order has been issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners putting into effect a lower export rate on grain from Edmonton to Prince Rupert than that from Edmonton to Vancouver. Chief Commissioner H. A. McKinnon said that he knew nothing of the supposed order.

Balkan Investigators Appointed by League

GENEVA, Nov. 5.—The special commission which is to proceed to the Greco-Bulgarian frontier to investigate the origin of the recent Balkan crisis and suggest possible reparations, was definitely constituted today.

Besides Sir Horace Rumbold, of Great Britain, the chairman, it includes General Serrigny, of France, General Ferrario, of Italy; M. Foray, member of the Netherlands Parliament, and P. de Aldercreutz, Swedish minister at The Hague.

Ships Drift at Mercy Of Great Lakes Storm

Gale Strips Propellers From Two Vessels—Pleas for Aid Sent Out by Hamonic and William Roberts—Lake Superior Shipping Driven to Refuge

HOUGHTON, Mich., Nov. 5.—An unofficial radio message intercepted at Eagle Harbor at 9:45 o'clock tonight, said that the Canadian steamer Hamonic was in distress twenty miles west of Caribou Island with her propeller gone and was being driven before a sixty-mile gale.

The Hamonic is a passenger steamer operated by the Northern Navigation Company between Sarnia and Duluth. It last scheduled sailing called for it to leave Sarnia October 31 for Duluth, and it is presumed the vessel is en route to its home port to put up for the winter.

Fifth Man Convicted Of Nanaimo Robbery

W. M. BAGLEY
Found guilty this morning of complicity in the Royal Bank hold-up last December, and sentenced to ten years and twenty lashes.

Government Is Scored for Its P.G.E. Delay

Mr. Harry Perry, Liberal Member for Fort George, Urges Opening Up of the Peace River District

Country Would Bring Revenue

This Plan, He Contends, Is the Only Solution of Railway Problem—"Policy of Drift" Must Cease

THE situation which has developed in British Columbia in connection with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, with particular regard to the steadily growing financial burden imposed upon the people, can only be remedied by the adoption of drastic measures on the part of the Government, and such measures should be taken without further delay, according to Mr. Harry Perry, Government member for Fort George. Mr. Perry, in his contribution to the debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne, given in the Legislature yesterday, went into the knotty P.G.E. question in all its many aspects, and while he indulged in sharp criticism of the Government for its past lackadaisical attitude in connection with the road, he offered many ideas of genuine constructive work.

The Government, he said, had three courses before it. First, it could continue its present policy of drift. Second, it could pull up the rails, and salvage whatever material it could, and abandon the road. Third, it could finish the road to Prince George, extend its lines to the great Peace River country and adopt an aggressive policy towards the development of traffic for the line.

New Battle Raging South of Damascus

French Punitive Column Meets Strong Rebel Force—Syrian Independence Demanded

DAMASCUS, Nov. 5.—The French column, under General Gamelin, which left the city yesterday to clear the neighboring district of rebels, has engaged strong rebel forces immediately south of Damascus.

The French military authorities have warned the population that it may be necessary to fire artillery over Damascus to disperse groups of rebels gathering in the suburbs and threatening General Gamelin's rear.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 5.—A demand that the Syrians be granted self-government on the ground that the French had abused their mandate over the country, was voiced today by Radd Zagloul Paala, Egyptian Nationalist leader and former premier, in an appeal for funds to relieve the distress in Syria. Zagloul also demanded redress on behalf of the Syrians for the "French error" by the punishment of those responsible.

Bitter Fight Seen On Stock Exchange

Speculators for Decline Wrest Control of Prices From Powerful Opponents

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Speculators for the decline wrested control of the price movement from powerful financial forces working for higher prices in a bitter struggle on the New York Stock Exchange today. Total sales were just 1,300 shares short of the nine-year record of 2,861,600 shares, established in yesterday's excited session.

Bear traders with the help of an enormous volume of profit-taking forced reactions of one to six points in a long list of stocks, but not until after nearly two more issues had been lifted to new 1925 peak prices, many of them to the highest levels on record.

Conservative Head Dubs King Decision to Stick Contempt of Public Will

Prime Minister Merely Hanging On, in Spite of Adverse Verdict of Dominion, Mr. Meighen Charges—Premier Now Simply Leader of Minority Group—No Precedent for Like Refusal to Resign

Attempt to Cling to Office Called Usurpation of Power

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Replying to Premier King's announcement yesterday, of his intention to stay in office until Parliament meets, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, in a statement today declared that "to cling to office under such circumstances is usurpation of power and contempt of the popular will."

Mr. Meighen's statement read as follows: "The Premier's statement, stripped of its sophistry, is merely an announcement of his determination to hang on, in spite of a heavily adverse verdict from the people of Canada."

"The Cabinet, he says, considered the alternative of advising a second dissolution of Parliament. The Premier knows that his Cabinet had no such alternative and could not get another dissolution no matter what they advised. They have made their appeal and have been defeated."

"Mr. King is now merely the leader of a minority group. There has never been a case in Canada and none for a third of a century in Britain, where the leader of a minority group has waited for the calling of Parliament or has refused to resign immediately the will of the people was known. Mr. Baldwin waited for Parliament in 1923, but Mr. Baldwin emerged from the election the leader of by far the largest group. In Mr. Baldwin's case also, Parliament was ready called to meet in three weeks, there was no time for a new government to be formed and ready to meet the House."

Evidence Links Officers With Wong Abduction

Point Grey Police Implicated by Testimony—Mr. M. B. Jackson's Name Mentioned

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5.—Evidence implicating Point Grey police officials in the abduction of Wong Foon King was introduced this afternoon in a case court by J. E. Bird, who is defending Oscar B. V. Robinson and William Robinson on a charge of kidnapping the Chinese.

The name of M. B. Jackson, K.C., who had been appointed by the Crown to investigate the recent Smith death, was mentioned in evidence.

No Session Likely Before January

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—That Parliament will meet shortly after the New Year is now predicted. The Prime Minister announced last night that the opening would take place at "the earliest possible date." It must, however, wait until all the members of the new Parliament are returned off to the Yukon. The date is fixed for the return of the Yukon in December 7, that from the Yukon is almost certain to be delayed for several days. It may not reach Ottawa until the end of next month.

In 1921, the general election took place on December 6, and the Yukon writ was not returned until February 11, more than two months after the date of the election. Parliament met on March 8.

Assuming that a similar period elapses between the date of the last election and the return of the Yukon writ, it will be the end of December or early in January before the last member of the present Parliament is seated.

Hijackers Employ Ammonia Attack

Chemical Blast Tipped on Guard of Export Liquor Scow by Assaultants

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 5.—Ammonia fumes were introduced as a new weapon in an unsuccessful attempt to hold up and rob an export liquor scow on the St. Clair River, near here Wednesday night. Responding to a knock, Harold Porter, in charge, was greeted with a chemical blast when he opened the door. He was able to shut the door and the springlock caught before the intruders could step in.

Police were unable to find any trace of the would-be pirates. The scow contained several hundred cases of liquor.

Russia Makes Haste To Approve Change Of Persian Rulers

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent says it appears that the Russian Soviet Government, through its envoy at Tehran, has recognized Reza Khan as the new ruler of Persia, without awaiting receipt of the note sent to all the foreign powers on Tuesday notifying them of the deposition of the Kajar dynasty.

The ruling house in Persia has been placed temporarily in the hands of Reza Khan, the decision as to the permanent form of government being left to the constituent assembly, according to direct Tehran dispatches last night.

T. H. Johnson, now serving eight years for his part in the hold-up, was brought from Oak to testify in Bagley's behalf, as he had done in that of Ross Watson, acquitted earlier in the week.

After having stated that Bagley had no part whatever in the robbery, Johnson said:

"Six of us left Seattle for Bellingham on the evening of December 9, two going to a truck. We had previously met in the Arlino apartments in Seattle. The six were O'Donnell, Castro, Willis, L. Larry, Stone and myself.

"In Bellingham, Castro registered with me as Ross, O'Donnell stayed with Willis, and I don't know where the others stayed."

A Severe Illness Caused Constipation

Mrs. Wm. Hill, Wapella, Sask., writes:—"Three years ago I had a very severe illness, and ever since I have suffered with constipation. A few months ago a friend advised me to use which I did, although not expecting any results, but I am pleased to say that since using them I have had perfect use of my bowels without any trouble or pain, and have never had bleeding piles again. Now, I never fail to recommend 'Laxa Liver Pills' to all my friends."

At this point witness was interrupted by the crown prosecutor, who asked who "Larry" was. Johnson replied that Larry—he did not know his other name—and he had met in Seattle and the latter told him he knew of a pretty good job up north. This was about two weeks before the robbery.

"Willis and I came up here to look it over. We had a car, and drove through Nanaimo and took in a lot of side roads near Boat Harbor. We stayed one night in Nanaimo."

Witness was here brought back to the Bellingham story, and continuing this, he said: "We left Bellingham on the evening of December 9, and went to a truck. Jones Island, where we were met by another boat, the 'white' boat. On the seventh we landed about a mile above Ladysmith, and Willis and I with me as Ross, O'Donnell stayed with Willis, and I don't know where the others stayed."

In Victoria, and next morning drove through to Hemer's Road, where we had planned to meet the rest of the gang. We turned into this road for about two hundred yards, and the other fellows were waiting for us in the bush."

Meets Bagley on Launch

Asked where he had met Bagley first, witness said he had met him on Clarence (Dick) Shively's launch, the El Toro, in Bellingham, on the morning of December 10. "He was talking to Shively when I went aboard," said Johnson. "I was kind of afraid of him, and asked Shively who he was. Shively said he was all right, he was a sort of a bootlegger. We didn't take any chance, though, and kept out of sight, as Shively said Bagley was going to leave shortly. He did leave a little while after."

The next time I saw Bagley was in Tacoma when Stone and I bought two bottles of Scotch from him. Bagley was arrested in Tacoma about the same time as I was, and on the way to the police station he jumped out of the car and tried to get away. He said he did not know why he should be arrested, though, and kept out of sight, as Shively said Bagley was going to leave shortly. He did leave a little while after."

Mind Dictaphone Nearby

"While you were in there did you talk over the robbery with him?" asked the prosecutor.

"No, we didn't talk very much. You see, just after we got in there we found a dictaphone." (laughter in court.)

When we found Bagley was charged with robbing the bank, we knew he was innocent, and said we would help him out."

The witness was next asked if he had, on October 16, 1925, in Nanaimo city jail, after he had pleaded guilty to the charge, mentioned anything to his companions, Castro and O'Donnell, about Bagley. Johnson said that he had heard Bagley's voice in the office, and said to the rest: "Here comes Bagley."

"Did you not," asked the prosecutor, "say, 'I wonder if Hill will plead guilty?'"

"I certainly did not," was the answer. Asked what his reply would be if told that Chief Shirras said he had heard him make this remark, witness was still firm in his denial.

Describes Hold-Up

Johnson was next shown a plan of the bank and he told of the movements of each of the gang. He swore that O'Donnell was the man who sat on the stool and kept the bank employees covered while they were lying on the floor. (Crown witnesses in identification evidence all agreed that the man sitting on the stool was Bagley.)

Asked what the man "Larry" was doing, Johnson evoked another laugh when he replied: "Oh, he was a kind of general utility man. He was all over the place. Once I sent him to the corner so he could look over towards the police station to see if any of the police were coming. It was Willis who walked Husband, the accountant, to the vault."

Witness thought it possible some of the witnesses may have mistaken O'Donnell for Bagley, as their features were somewhat alike, although O'Donnell was a much smaller and shorter man, a man about five feet four inches. This ended Johnson's evidence, and William Bagley, the accused, next took the stand.

Bagley on Stand

In reply to Mr. Grant, his counsel, Bagley said that he was not in Nanaimo on December 12, and had nothing to do with the bank robbery. He said, in Seattle, witness said his business was running a saloon. He had done this for years, but previously he was a sailor.

About noon, the twelfth, he swore he had gone to the Rainier Drug Store, in Seattle, and paid a bill to Mr. Geo. Carzon there. When he went to a taxi stand and hired a taxi from a man named Swasey. He then went to "the other side of Woodland Park, in about the eighty-one block, and saw Dr. Powers there. He had gone there to pay a bill. He then went back to the taxi stand and with Swasey, had gone to dinner at a restaurant between First and Second Avenues, above the Rainier Hotel.

Cross-examined, witness said he knew Shively seven years ago, after he had left the police force. Bagley said he had gone aboard Shively's boat in November for the first time. On the ninth, he said, he was at Shively's ranch, when he received a telegram from Shively from Bellingham asking him to bring up the "stuff."

By this, witness explained, Shively had meant a suitcase of coins and labels for bottles. This was what had taken him to Bellingham, where Johnson had been him.

Bagley said he had known Stone six weeks before December 12, and had met Johnson a few days before his arrest in Tacoma.

Witness next told of being in Bellingham on the morning of the tenth, when a bunch of men came aboard the boat while he was talking to Shively. As soon as the boat had taken on gasoline, he said, he left her.

Stone says Bagley Not There

Stone, who came over from Oakalla with Johnson, and who had been convicted of the local robbery, then took the oath under the name of George Ross. He, too, said Bagley had nothing whatever to do with the robbery.

"There were," he said, "seven of us on the job: Castro, O'Donnell, Burns, Willis, Johnson, Larry and myself." He then repeated the story of the robbery much the same as Johnson had given it.

A man named Pete, he said, was running the second, or "white" boat, to which they changed at Jones Island.

Witness was next confronted with a writing which the crown alleged Stone had made in the Seattle jail. Stone admitted that he had written it, with a view to handing it to the British Columbia authorities, and was, he said, "the story I was going to tell you here."

The writing had been torn to small pieces, and then thrown into the water, but the police had patched it together and made it fairly legible, although without close study, it was not intelligible. The crown alleged that it referred to a "Bill" who, they said, meant Bagley. Witness denied this, but made no explanation.

Members Ask About Expenses

Cost to B.C. of Government Rates

Counsel Subject of Questions in Legislature

Just what Mr. G. G. McClear, defeated Liberal candidate in the recent federal contest in Vancouver Centre, had cost the people of British Columbia, is a matter which has aroused the curiosity of Mr. J. Hinchcliffe, second member for Victoria City, and Mr. Reginald Hayward, first member for Victoria City, according to questions filed in the Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Hinchcliffe desired to know the total expenses incurred to date by the Government in its continued efforts to secure removal of discrimination against British Columbia in the matter of railway transportation rates; what amount of such expenses had been already paid; to whom, and the amount in each case; how much is still owing; to whom, and the amount in each case.

Mr. Hayward has filed questions as follows: Has Mr. McClear been employed by the Government in connection with the freight rates case? When did his engagement commence and is he still under engagement? When did the engagement cease if he is not employed now? What, if any, is the amount due Mr. McClear, how much has been paid to date in fees, costs and general expenses, and what is the total cost to date in all respects to the Province, and amount due on the freight rates case?

Anti-Foreign Strike Weakens in Canton

CANTON, Nov. 5.—The strikers, whose anti-foreign agitation has been showing some signs of weakening, have adopted stricter measures to prevent trading in foreign goods. Many Chinese merchants, however, are surreptitiously withdrawing goods from foreign warehouses. The mineral oil monopoly established under Russian management is not meeting with public favor, causing some demanding American and British oil.

Accused Dealers To Have Access To Seized Books

Court Orders Removal of Fruit Combine Documents From Police Barracks to Courthouse

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5.—On the application of Mr. A. McLeod Sinclair, K.C., for fifty-three Western Canadian fruit and produce dealers who are awaiting trial in Awise Court on conspiracy and other charges, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald today directed that defendants' counsel should have complete and unrestricted access to their books and documents, which were seized by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and are collected here.

Mr. Sinclair complained that his auditors had been refused permission to make copies of documents, which are in a room at the courthouse and are guarded by R.C.M.P. constables, and he said that the task of preparing defence had been made very difficult because Mr. J. C. McRuer, crown prosecutor, had some papers in the police barracks and others in his office and that, when tracing shipments, it was necessary to consult documents and books in these different places. He said that Mr. McRuer hindered the defence because he insisted on knowing what documents were being used for the defence.

Mr. Sinclair said the application was to embarrass the defence.

Documents to Be Moved
Mr. Sinclair offered to pay the expense of transferring the books and documents, estimated to be two cartloads, from the R.C.M.P. barracks to the courthouse.

An order, accordingly, was made by his lordship, who pointed out that there were other rooms which could be used in the courthouse if the one already allotted was not large enough. The defendants are faced with a serious crime and should be given every opportunity to meet it," said Mr. Justice McDonald.

"My sympathy in this application is with the defence. You have had them for a year," remarked his lordship to Mr. McRuer with reference to the documents in question. Mr. Sinclair pointed out that twenty-five witnesses had been subpoenaed by the crown in the East, but no money advanced to pay their fare to Vancouver.

Final May Start November 16
His lordship stated that the crown should provide transportation for the witnesses.

E. P. Davis, K.C., defence counsel, pointed out that the order for jurors called for an additional 250 and he said that his lordship, when the matter was discussed previously, ordered that 250 jurors should be summoned and that the sheriff should prepare a list of 400 names of jurors who would be in readiness should they be required.

An order was made accordingly. Justice McDonald stated that he thought the trial could open in the week of November 16.

Foul Play Suspected In Peruvian's Death
Paris Police Probe Legation Mystery—Note Tells of Man's Suicide Plan

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The police today continued their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Pedro Delboy, former attaché of the Peruvian legation here, whose body was found in his apartment yesterday with a note pinned to his coat stating his intention to commit suicide.

Doubt was at first thrown on the authenticity of this note. Today, however, several of Delboy's friends declared that the writing in the note, which was actually that of the dead man.

The police are strenuously seeking three Peruvian men who were said to have accompanied Delboy to his apartment, which, when the body was found, showed signs of a struggle.

WORKS LIKE WONDER TO RELIEVE PAIN
Shoulder sprained, returns to work next day

A remarkable case of quick relief from pain and a phenomenally rapid recovery from a bad sprain is told by a stockyard worker in Davenport, Iowa.

"I was loading a quarter of beef, and coming out of the car I slipped and sprained my shoulder. I used Sloan's Liniment and the next day I was able to go back to work. It does work like wonder to relieve pain."

This is one letter—typical of thousands received by the makers of Sloan's, that tell how sprains, bruises, lame muscles, have been helped by this wonderful liniment.

What is the secret of its marvelous effectiveness? It is the healing tide of fresh blood that Sloan's sends right to the place that hurts.

No need to rub. The medicine itself does the work. Quickly and surely it takes down the swelling and inflammation—drives out the pain. Get a bottle today. All drugists—25 cents.

The Session

It Gets Livelier and Livelier—Mr. Twigg Enlivens It—By Demanding Suspensions—Even of Hon. Attorney-General Manson—The Doukhobors Are Remembered—And Premier Oliver Doesn't Like It—While Mr. Perry Cannot Forget the P.G.E.

The Press Gallery, Thursday.

"Nothing doing far niente about that, anyhow," said the member for Mary Tod Island this afternoon, in cheerful approbation of the manner of Mr. Twigg's peroration. Mr. Twigg—Mr. H. Leonard Twigg, third member for Victoria, to be specific—had just sat down. He had been speaking for two hours and a half. He had devoted time to a careful and carefully-worded annihilation of all the works and ways of the Oliver Government. He had particularly with certain incidents connected with the Grand Forks by-election of 1924. He had twitted the Hon. First Minister with ineffectualness in the face of the Province in its respect of those incidents; and he had so far worked upon the injured feelings of the Premier as to cause this session to be almost any sort of a session rather than a tame one. The opposition is "gunning" for the Government. The opposition assumes knowledge and visibly—the confident attitude of one who has the measure of his opponent. The Government, in the person of the Hon. First Minister, assumes the position of injured innocence. The Government, in the persons of other honorable ministers, assumes the polite interest in this wild opposition talk of one who hears an incredible tale from a far country. What the Government no longer does, in the person of any minister or follower whatsoever, is to hug the cherished delusion that the session will be short and sweet. No possible draughts of ministerial eloquence to come can take the bitter taste of this debate on the Address from the mouths of honorable members. And as to a shorter session, well, one member put it, resignedly, "there's no harm in hoping for it."

No, there's no harm in hoping for it. But Mr. Twigg, for instance, after spending two hours and a half in careful exhortation of the Government today, was winding up with a demand for the suspension of the Attorney-General, intimating that if it were not for the absence of that minister, he would have something very serious indeed to say about him and the way he had administered his department. He intimated, also, that there would be plenty of time to say it later on. There was no suggestion at all that the extreme desirability that the House should be permitted to eat its Christmas dinner in the bosom of its family would be allowed to stand in the way of what was still to be said about the administration of the Attorney-General's department. Yesterday, as to this question of an early prorogation, Premier Oliver remarked that someone was always taking all the joy out of life. Today it seemed almost as if it might be the Hon. First Minister's life that was to have all the joy taken out of it.

Mr. Twigg—very much auviver in mode and also a trifle fortiter in re—can Mr. Twigg, of course, will say before the session is much older—was not caring today about how much joy he took out of the Government's life. His opinion was that such a Government did not deserve to be happy. His initial contribution to the gaiety of injured and innocent governments was a congratulation to the "absentee member" for North Vancouver on his "absentee speech" of Tuesday. This naturally suggested the question of the absentee vote, and Mr. Twigg was decidedly of opinion that the whole question of the absentee vote would eventuate in a number of amendments to the Government. Had the Hon. Premier heard of 2,800 non-existent voters on the Vancouver lists, for instance? It seemed to him the first the Hon. Premier had heard of that. Mr. Twigg was not surprised. It was the last defence of the Hon. First Minister not to know anything about inconvenient matters that everybody else knew all about. But what it came to was this, that the opposition found the Government's administration of almost everything unsatisfactory. The administration of beer, for instance, was not what it should be; the beer list was not what it should be; the Government's use of stout pigeons shouldn't be at all; the alleged issuance of beer licences to friends of the Government was a scandalous affair.

But what Mr. Twigg was most in earnest about was the by-election in Grand Forks last year. He found in his citations of incidents connected with that election ground for a charge of "deliberate and diabolical" persecution of the Doukhobors by the Oliver Government. He charged that the Doukhobors had been lured for the purpose of influencing the Grand Forks voters. He said that the Government had washed its hands of the Doukhobors for years, until the time came when politics could be played and then it had suddenly affected to be vitally concerned about the burning of Doukhobor schools. He read the famous letter of the late Peter Verzemni to Premier Oliver. He insisted that this letter had offered to reveal to the Premier the names of the men responsible for outrages in the community. Premier Oliver, swift to seize upon the categorical letter of the charge, said that this letter did not offer to reveal the names of the men who had burnt the schools. Mr. Twigg left it to the House to say whether this was not another instance of the late Peter Verzemni's offer to reveal the names of the men who had burnt the schools. The House, with all its hopes or fears, of a tame session effectively dispipated, had nothing on the spur of the moment to say, especially to Mr. Twigg's closing demand that Attorney-General Manson should be suspended, pending a drastic inquiry into all these matters.

Mr. H. G. Perry, Liberal member for Fort George, struck a lighter note in the exordium of a capable and well-received speech. He was suddenly reminded that it was Guy Pawkes Day, and his allusions to the anniversary played lightly with the fancy that the opposition had discovered gunpowder treason plots against the peace and dignity of the Province among all the subterranean passages of Governmental activities. But this was merely grace before meat. The piece de resistance was the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Mr. Perry is the member for the P.G.E. Just as it will be found—may the day be long in coming—that what was written on the broken heart of the Hon. John Oliver was "freight rates," so it will be found—it cannot be too far away—that what was written on the cheerful heart of Mr. Perry was "P.G.E." He is the provincial authority on the P.G.E. Some people forget the P.G.E. Some people want to forget it. Mr. Perry cannot forget it. He knows all about it. He is even the only man in this House who properly designates it. Everybody else calls it the "P. G. and E." Mr. Perry calls it the "P. and G.E."

The modest and popular member for Fort George impressed the House with his statement of the case of the P.G.E. He presented, with logical statement, with implacable statistics, with closely-reasoned argument, the alternatives facing the Province in its future dealings with the railway. There was the present policy of drift. Mr. Perry was not for that. There was the policy of "scrap." He was not for that. There was the policy of sound development. Mr. Perry was, presently, persuasively for that. All other railways in Canada had had a grant of land. Why not give the P.G.E. a grant of land? All other railways had been put on their feet by bringing settlers into the country tributary to them. That could be done in the country served by the P.G.E. The railway must be carried into Prince George. But it was useless to do that if it was to end there. It must be carried there as the first step towards the Peace River country. And it was for this House to realize its responsibilities in this matter, to cut the Gordian knot of its embarrassments by a bold and confident policy.

The House went home tonight for Thanksgiving. It will meet again next Tuesday. It will resume the debate on the Address. It will hear gentle hints from Premier Oliver that it is wasting time in the debate on the Address. Its withers will be unwrung. It will remember that that's what he always says. It will be borne up under ministerial reproach by the memory of other Houses. It knows that the debate on the Address will come to an end, suddenly, miraculously, just as soon as the Government is ready to bring down legislation. And not a minute before that time. The House is running true to form. The Premier is also running. It is all very much as usual, except—except that the opposition is running a thought stronger than it did last session. The point is that it is not to be a tame session.

Forum Meeting to Debate Water Deal

Initial Gathering Will Be Held by Chamber of Commerce in Two Weeks' Time

The Special Forum Committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided yesterday morning it would initiate this class of meetings on one. The first meeting of its kind will be held in about two weeks time and the subject to come up for discussion will be the Equivalency Works Agreement made by the city.

The intention of the committee is to arrange to have these meetings made very attractive. Questions of live local interest will be arranged to come before the membership gathering on these occasions and the endeavor will be to stimulate real interest in them.

At the first meeting the Mayor of the city and the representatives of the neighboring municipalities will be asked to give their views on the subject. This will open up the question for general discussion and it is the hope of the committee that full advantage will be taken by members of the opportunity to acquaint themselves with the local questions of the day.

There has been a growing demand of late for open meetings of the Chamber at which the general membership would have the opportunity of taking part. This system of forum gatherings will afford this chance to all. These meetings will be held about once a month.

Acquisition of Elk Lake Course Now Proposed

Vancouver Capitalist Has a Plan to Convert City's Holdings in Saanich Into Big Pleasure Resort

Central Hotel Is Planned

Purchase or lease of the Elk Lake golf course, comprising 140 acres of land, and the establishment there of a big pleasure resort, is the proposition which Mr. J. S. Connel, of Vancouver, laid before an informal meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon as a culmination to negotiations with the Chamber of Commerce. The project is proposed to undertake construction activities within thirty days.

The proposal of the Vancouver capitalist includes provision for the erection of a central hotel at Elk Lake, with from fifty to 100 cottages surrounding it, completion of the golf course and establishment of appropriate amusement features. The alderman appointed a committee consisting of Aldermen Woodward, Brown and Todd to secure from reputable sources the best possible city appraisals of the value of the property involved.

Whole Acreage Sought

Mr. Connel proposes to acquire the whole 400 acres of the city's holdings at Elk Lake, but a majority of the aldermen agree that the city should retain all but the 140 acres comprising the golf course.

It is not yet announced how much money Mr. Connel plans to spend on the project, although now that the matter has passed within the purview of the City Council, it is understood there will be no policy of secrecy to cloak details of the scheme as there was with regard to the original Elk Lake golf course scheme.

Advantages Unexcelled

Mr. Connel has for some months past been seeking a Vancouver island site suited to his plans. He searched for an area of large extent, located near a populous centre, served by paved highways with golfing, bathing and boating facilities. In Elk Lake, he believes, he has found an area satisfying all these exacting requirements, and having the final advantage of great natural scenic beauty.

The advantages of Elk Lake are regarded as unequalled for development of such a resort as is proposed. Beside it runs the busiest highway on the island. The golf course is already partially completed. In summer time the waters of the lake are of a warm temperature, eminently suitable for bathing. The large area of the lake also permits of ambitious aquatic programmes in the way of entertainment.

Government Is Scored For Its Delay on P.G.E.

policy of development. The land passed through territory in British Columbia which contained vast potential resources as yet undeveloped. Extension of the road would lead to the opening up of big tracts of land valuable because of its agricultural, timber and mineral resources, and land settlement. He pointed out that the greatest need, not only of British Columbia, but Canada as a whole, was interest charges on the original outlay made for the P.G.E. were mounting up, and in 1926 the people of British Columbia would have more than $50,000,000 invested in the property. Interest charges this year would amount to $2,375,000.

Mr. Perry declared that he had every regard for the ability of the minister in charge of the road, and the general manager, but neither had been given a chance to show a favorable return. In 1920, the operating loss of the road had been $357,000, compared to an operating loss of $237,000 for the present year. In five years the management had been able to decrease the loss by only $20,000.

Problem Must Be Tackled

The speaker regretted that in the speech from the Throne there had been no explicit statement of the intention of the Government in regard to the future of the railroad. The Government had played and dilly-dallied long enough. This year it was the clear duty of the Government to get down to business and tackle the problem. Not only tackle it, he added, but solve it.

While he strongly advocated the completion of the road from Quenell to Prince George, such construction would not solve the problem. He reiterated that the road had never been given a fair chance to show a favorable balance sheet. He was convinced that the only place where sufficient traffic could be obtained was in the Peace River country. That region, he said, contained 74,000,000 acres of land, much of it being arable. According to a Dominion Government report issued in 1921, 9,216,000 acres had been surveyed and, at that time, 1,748,000 acres had been taken up by settlers.

Government Gets Millions

"The Pacific Great Eastern Railroad system had never been given the same benefits by any Government of this Province which were given other railways, real and projected in this Province," Mr. Perry declared. "While it is true that the Government did guarantee the bonds of the P.G.E., that is all that the Government did do. The money advanced was all charged up to the road—and, while eventually the people must pay off the debt, in the meantime all the accumulating losses and interest charges are charged against the road and are treated by the Government as a liability. The P.G.E. was never given land grants or bonuses such as were given to other roads. True, it was granted tax exemption, but the term of such freedom expires in 1926."

The speaker declared that indirectly, the Government was securing millions in revenue from the Pacific Great Eastern Railroad, which it would not obtain if the road had not been built. Taxes paid into the Government on land contiguous to the road had amounted to $4,312,664, he said. Mining receipts had totaled more than $400,000 for the last ten or twelve years, and timber and land sales had increased the total by a substantial sum.

Land Sales $1,450,000

Mr. C. E. Davis (Cowichan-Newcastle): "What was the revenue received by the Government from that territory before the road was built?"

Mr. Perry: "During the year 1910-11, receipts were $47,800. In 1918, they were $217,000."

Receipts from mining, he continued, amounted to approximately $50,000, not including the Fort George district. Cash received by the Government for land sales in the Lil-looet and Squamish districts had totaled $480,000.

The speaker, in order to show how the P.G.E. had been discriminated against in the matter of assistance, quoted figures showing the land grants and bonuses given other roads, projected and otherwise, in British Columbia, in part, as follows:

Grants Specified

Ashcroft and Cariboo Railroad, incorporated 1890, granted a subsidy of 20,000 acres of land for each mile of railway built.

British Columbia-Yukon Railway Company, incorporated, granted 200 foot right-of-way for entire course, lands for terminal purposes, and 5,120 acres of land for each mile of railway built.

Canada Western Railway, incorporated 1885, granted subsidy of 20,000 acres for each mile of railway built.

Canadian Northern Pacific, under the act of 1912, the Province guaranteed the bonds of the company to a limit not exceeding $35,000 per mile for certain extensions, and in 1914, the Province added to its responsibilities by guaranteeing bonds covering the main line of the railway to the extent of $10,000 per mile.

Cassiar Central Railway, incorporated 1897, granted subsidy of blocks of land not exceeding 100 acres per mile of railway built, and in the aggregate not to exceed 700,000 acres.

Coast-Kootenay Railway, incorporated 1901, granted subsidy of $4,500 per mile of railway to be built, not exceeding 350 miles.

Mr. Perry named the subsidies in both money and acreage offered twenty-three additional instances.

No Land or Bonus Given

Not an acre of land had been given to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, he pointed out, and not a dollar of a bonus. The Federal Government had in several instances assisted railroads in British Columbia, yet the Dominion authorities had refused a cent towards the construction or upkeep of the P.G.E., although the P.G.E. was a genuine colonization railroad. It considered it only reasonable to suppose that the Federal authorities should contribute some assistance.

Referring to the three possible causes the Government might follow in regard to the road, Mr. Perry warned the House that if it was decided to pull up the rails and so cut the annual interest, the people would still be called upon to pay interest charges on a debt of nearly $50,000,000. If, on the other hand, the Government went ahead and finished the road so that it would have a beginning and an end, and adopted a policy of progress, there would be hope ahead. He was convinced that the Government must make a clear decision this season, and if the Government continued to drift as it had in the past, that drift was an admission on its part that it was incompetent to deal with the problem.

Writing-Off Advocated

The cost of completing the road from Quenell to Prince George would be between one and one and a half million dollars, he said. It was already laid from Prince George to a point seventeen and a half miles south and from Quenell to a point about twelve miles north. The gap, which was about forty-five miles long, had been graded, and it would be a matter of time before the bridge over the Cottonwood River. The steel for this project, however, had already been fabricated and paid for.

The speaker estimated that there were 700,000 acres of land between Quenell and Prince George, and at least 1,000 settlers could be placed there.

In spite, however, of the fact that extension of the road to Prince George would open up valuable country and would contribute to the revenue of the road, such action would not solve the whole problem, Mr. Perry said. As a separate corporate entity the road had no chance to pay. He advocated the writing-off of all debt charged against the road over and above the actual cost of construction, $28,000,000. All accumulated debt over that figure should be charged to the Provincial debt. All receipts derived by the Government from taxes on lands contiguous to the road and from all other sources from such lands, industries and sources of revenue thereon, should be credited to the road, and in addition, the Government should make a grant of land to the road on the same basis as it had granted land to other roads. Such land grants would be used for colonization purposes.

Country Should be Opened

Even then, he said, the road would not pay its way. In order to bring that so-much-to-be-desired state into being, the Government would have to adopt an aggressive policy, a view to encouraging traffic for the line, and he was convinced that the only place where sufficient traffic could be obtained was in the Peace River country. That region, he said, contained 74,000,000 acres of land, much of it being arable. According to a Dominion Government report issued in 1921, 9,216,000 acres had been surveyed and, at that time, 1,748,000 acres had been taken up by settlers.

The Peace River country constituted the only region in the world, he said, where virgin land of high grade could be obtained. The British Columbia Government held the key to the region and it should not delay in turning that key and opening the country to settlement. The eyes of the world were directed towards the Peace River country and the only bar to its settlement and future prosperity was the lack of a suitable outlet for its produce to the Pacific Coast.

Is Only Solution

"It has been said that extension of the P.G.E. to tap the Peace River country will increase the public debt of British Columbia," Mr. Perry said. "But the people of this Province for years have been called upon to carry the huge P.G.E. debt already evolved, and I believe they will insist upon a plan that will shift their burden, even though the act of shifting calls for the expenditure of further money."

Government Should Demand

the return to its control and ownership the land known as the Peace River block and the land known as the railway belt lands, from the Dominion authorities. The Federal Government has held the property for forty years and during that time there has been no development in regard to them whatsoever."

The speaker contended that the extension of steel to tap the Peace River Country was not so stupendous an undertaking as it looked on first sight, and he was thoroughly convinced that it offered the only solution to the P.G.E. problem. The Peace River country, once supplied with easy transportation to the Pacific Coast, would develop with exceptional rapidity. New towns and villages and cities would spring up; industries would come into being; prosperity would be an extent that would assure sufficient revenue to the road to pay its way. Development and settlement in the Peace River district would also build a new market for British Columbia fish, lumber, fruit, agricultural products, and the influence of northern prosperity would be felt in all parts of the Province.

Sunshine Plays Strange Pranks With Railways

Railway Engineer Here Who Has Spent Many Years in India—Problem of Gauges Is Acute

Creeping Rails Dangerous

An Anglo-Indian visitor of many years' residence in that country is Mr. Edward J. Verrieres, of the Island of Jersey, who has arrived at the Dominion Hotel.

Mr. Verrieres was engaged in railway engineering in many parts of the Indian peninsula, and he had some interesting observations to make in connection with the strange pranks which the extreme heat of Indian sunshine play on the rails.

The steel suffers greatly from "creeping" rails, which jeopardize traffic, the strange experience being that one rail moves one way and the other in the opposite direction, so that unless the tracks are carefully safeguarded, there is grave danger of derailment. This atmospheric influence also deflects bridge girders, and similar structures, making the situation of remarkable menace.

Just like Australia, there are a number of gauges in use, ranging from two feet six inches to five feet six inches. Problems of interchange of traffic are consequently quite serious.

Mr. Verrieres says that the uncertainty of employment in India for Europeans has resulted in a steady decline in Britishers who are found to commence a career in that country. It is necessary now to hold out inducements in order to get the young men to enter the Government service.

He has no confidence in the Chelmsford-Montagu reforms, declaring that the majority of Indians are not ready for self-government, and that the best-governed provinces are the feudatory states under the absolute government of their native rulers.

Since retirement from the service Mr. Verrieres has been studying engineering works of importance in Canada, and has been much struck with the magnitude of the grain traffic at the head of the Great Lakes.

Social Workers' Club Plans to Open Headquarters in Dominion Capital

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Announcement made yesterday by Miss Charlotte Whitton at the meeting of the Social Workers' Club of the proposed opening of headquarters of the federal Child Welfare Council. Miss Whitton will act in the capacity of executive secretary.

Miss Whitton, who spoke briefly on the origin of the Child Welfare Council and the lines along which it was carrying on activities, said the council was formed five years ago in Ottawa by Dr. J. A. Amyot and Dr. Helen McMurphy. It handled sufficient problems of relief in all the provinces of Canada, its influence being far-reaching. Miss Whitton suggested the advisability of more frequent provincial and municipal conferences and fewer national gatherings.

Advanced Art Described By Artist as Bestial

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Hon. John Collier, eminent artist, describes advanced art as ugly and inhuman. He so told the Author's Club and then flayed "Elina," the work of Jacob Epstein, the sculptor.

"I have no hesitation in calling 'Elina' a bestial figure, horribly misshapen, with enormous claw-like hands and the head and face of a microcephalous idiot. If critics met a woman like that in the street they would flee from her shrieking, but because it is done by Epstein they are almost willing to embrace her."

Turning to modern fashion, he said the mode of today, "when women's waists are halfway down their thighs," was one of the things which showed "how easily we could tolerate unwholesome distortions of the naturally beautiful form."

Ten American States have among them more telephones than all foreign countries combined.

Nichol, Mrs. Harold Keating, Misses Ethel Brown, Mildred Stephens, Margaret Kermode, Winnie Warburton, Elsie Elkington, Kathleen Knappton, Helen Richards, May Murrell, Annie Crawford, Enid Flint, Madeline Priestley, Myra Milby, Loyal MacFarlane, Ailie Limmer, Ada Ramsay.

Shower in Aid of Bazaar
Mrs. Dr. W. G. It was held at her home, 1710 Fort Street, and was attended by one hundred guests, each of whom came with gifts of cash or saleable articles for the bazaar.

The guests were received by Mrs. Wilson and the president of the ladies' aid society, Mrs. A. F. Proctor. Mrs. A. S. Christie and Mrs. G. E. Wilkerson poured tea and several of the younger members served dainty refreshments. Mrs. R. H. Morrison and Mrs. C. Smith received the numerous donations, which are valued at approximately $250, and is a very encouraging nucleus for the various stalls at the forthcoming bazaar, which promises to be one of the most successful in the annals of the First Church.

Styles Regarded by Hikers

Fashion Finds Way Into Great Open Spaces, Where Game Abounds and High Heels Are de Trop

The Montreal Gazette prints the following interesting account of how fashion has adapted herself to the needs and comforts of hunting and fishing:

"How women tourists from the United States have introduced practical styles into the hiking wardrobe of many Canadian women and how they have trained French and Indian guides to become expert cooks, are mentioned by the Quebec Association for the Protection of Fish and Game. Only recently have the majority of women hunters and anglers from the country to the South and from the Dominion, learned that high heels form leaks in canvas canoes and that skirts are ridiculously out of place in the woods. J. H. Innes, the secretary of the Association, stated yesterday. The desirability of low-heeled shoes, of the type that have been worn in the States for many years, when country jaunts are being made, was first shown by the American women, who, glad to do so, also, gave their guides the necessary hints. Popularized the coarser materials for knickers.

"Although women from the far, far South are familiar with dress requirements in this country, many of them, even at the present time, expect to see many more Indians in the Province of Quebec, than they do upon their arrival here. The absence of large numbers of red men from the streets of Montreal, is the reason why one American maid just recently to the pond to entertain the children. After the last few weeks, have brought sturdy apparel. Only two years ago, the majority of the visitors did not know what good clothing to wear. A few of the women still favor French heels, but they do not journey far before they secure brogues. Speaking of the types of sport the women prefer, the secretary said that most of them go on fishing trips while the men in their parties are hunting. The number of women who hunt is still small, but it is increasing from year to year."

Many Inquiries
"Even hunters who have visited the province before, find difficulty in planning the necessities of a party of two, four or six persons on a trip. The secretary of the association, who gives advice gratuitously, is almost overwhelmed with inquiries from the United States at the present time. A train from New York City, whose baggage car carried thirty-seven rifles, arrived with several parties of hunters and fishermen this week in Montreal. None of the parties knew where to go for licenses. 'We finally decided,' said one of the visitors, 'to go to a place where there are brains, at least. So we inquired at McGill University, and someone told us where to get them.'"

Discard High Heels
"Although a few of the American women, forgetful of the usual rules, have set out on 'hiking' tours in this province during the past Summer, without having selected heavy hosiery in place of silk, those who have come during the last few weeks, have brought sturdy apparel. Only two years ago, the majority of the visitors did not know what good clothing to wear. A few of the women still favor French heels, but they do not journey far before they secure brogues. Speaking of the types of sport the women prefer, the secretary said that most of them go on fishing trips while the men in their parties are hunting. The number of women who hunt is still small, but it is increasing from year to year."

Ladies' Aid Meets

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharon

For the Play Girls of the Western World the designers create adorable frocks that look like English carter's smocks and are worn very short over bloomers.

Italian sleeves, a collar that is rarer than a button, a buttoned-down-front effect in what is really a slip-over frock, and the new bloomers banded just at the knee, make the type of dress that smart women choose for their equally smart children. For travelling and kindergarten it is a most practical costume made of wool jersey in old blue, almond green or creamy tan. The soft fullness at the neck and sleeves is delightful in dotted Swiss with the collar and cuffs of rose, navy or French blue, green or yellow, to match the dot. It is very nice also in cotton crepe, crepe de chine, cotton voile, etc.

Woman of 75 says Kellogg's ALL-BRAN cleansed system of constipation's poison

Stop constipation and enjoy good health, keynote of letter.

If you suffer from constipation, there is good cheer for you in Mrs. Levy's words:

On my seventy-fifth birthday I take great pleasure in letting you know that it is due to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN that I am now enjoying good health. I was compelled to take an enema or catheter every night. Since May, 1924, when a friend recommended Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, the poison in my system has been eliminated without the aid of purgatives. I heartily recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to everyone afflicted with intestinal trouble.

Yours faithfully,
Mrs. Pauline Levy,
(Address on request).

Armories Are Decorated for Tonight's Ball

Annual Police Dance to Be Formally Opened by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Nichol at Nine o'Clock

Elaborate Plans Made

The Armories has undergone a complete transformation during the last two or three days, and kaleidoscopic color will meet the eyes of tonight's Police Ball patrons. Bunting and flags of all nations, jeweled with electric lights, depend from the great beams of the ceiling as well as from the balconies around the galleries; and spectators in the latter will witness a wonderful scene of animation looking down on the great floor, with its hundreds of dancers swinging round the great bandstand in the middle of the floor, where Rogers' twenty-piece orchestra will take its position right at the beginning of the evening.

The grand march, led by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Nichol, will constitute the formal opening of the ball, and it is hoped that as many dancers as possible will be at the hall at nine o'clock in order to take part in this spectacular feature of the evening.

Magistrate Jay and Chief Fry head a reception committee which will welcome the specially invited guests, others who are to serve on the same committee being Detectives (Leary, Phillips, Rogers, Stark and Caldwell, and Sergeant Hall. There will be comfortable sitting-out places for between dances and for spectators, and the supper arrangements provide for the serving of refreshments from eleven o'clock until one, with a host of attendants in order to insure prompt attention. The catering is in the hands of the hosts of the evening, directly in charge of Sergeant Healey.

Interest in tonight's event is at the usual high pitch, and the Police Department was kept busy yesterday supplying tickets and giving information about its big annual entertainment.

Noted Elocutionist to Entertain Here Tonight

Captain the Rev. W. G. Martin, whose gifts as a lecturer were recognized by the Dominion Government when they sent him to Great Britain on a special lecturing mission, and who is a gold medalist in oratory of Victoria University of Toronto, is to be in the city today, and this evening at the Metropolitan United Church will present Channing Pollock's famous play, "The Fool."

Captain Martin has for several years traveled about the country giving dramatic recitals of the great masterpieces of literature. His memory for detail, his ability at impersonation, and his rich variety of inflection, gesture and expression, all assist, his critics maintain, in making his readings powerfully dramatic.

In "The Fool," Captain Martin impersonates several characters, the chief among which is "The Fool" himself, while the chief secondary characters are "Jerry" and "Jerry's wife," both universal types.

Lake Hill Women's Institute
Lake Hill Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Mercer, the president, in the chair. There was a good attendance and much business was dealt with. The meeting went on record as being in favor of the small fair rather than one big one in Saanich, feeling that the big fair was no encouragement to the new competitor or the small grower. Mrs. W. V. parties held during the month and Mrs. Moody reported that a most successful Halloween party had been held on Saturday. The gratifying sum of $18.50 was realized from the evening's entertainment, which will be forwarded to assist the Solarium for crippled children. Plans are under way to hold a dance in aid of the Solarium in the near future. Mrs. Walter Fiedle was appointed convener, and every Institute member is requested to assist. The Institute wishes to thank all those who helped in any way to make the Halloween party a success. A comprehensive report of the Islands District Conference of B.C. Women's Institute was given by the secretary, Mrs. Akerman and Mrs. Hidyok, were the hostesses for the afternoon. Tweed in a delightful shade of soft grey-blue makes the simple coat shown above. The model is made on straight lines, with a notched collar, also of the tweed. The attached cape drops from beneath the collar and all most hides the sleeves.

With this is worn a tiny felt hat of dark blue, with a grey and feather stuck in the groggrain ribbon band.

Rotary-Kumtuku Banquet Proves Great Success

Members of Two Service Clubs Enjoy Fine Programme in Empress - Dance Ends Festivities

Mr. Denham Joins Rotary

One of the most successful Joint Rotary-Kumtuku gatherings ever conducted in Victoria was held last night in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. The function was conducted by the Victoria Rotary Club, and members of the Kumtuku organization presented the excellent entertainment programme. Miss M. A. Wiles, President of the Kumtuku, presided.

Greetings of welcome to the Kumtuku ladies were ably voiced on the Rotarians' behalf by President R. W. Mayhew and Director James Hunter. Members of the Rotary Club directorate were presented with buttons by Miss Rita Ormiston, on behalf of the Kumtuku ladies.

The programme included a well-delivered address by Miss Mabel Cameron on the "L.R.D. of Clubdom," the initials representing the symbols of Loyalty, Service and Daring, three essentials to the welfare and progress of club activities. A short playlet entitled "The Story That Has No Ending," written by Madame Sanderson-Mongin, was enthusiastically received. Those taking part in the play were Madame Sanderson-Mongin, Miss Mustard and the Misses Hetty and Madelyn Bradshaw. A letter to the Rotarians written by Mrs. W. H. F.weeney, was read by Mrs. H. U. Knight.

Community singing was one of the banquet's features. Rotarian "Bob" Webb directed the singing and the Rotary orchestra rendered a fine musical programme. Vocal solos were acceptably sung by Miss Doris Bradshaw and Miss Porsell.

Tokio Has Its First Modern Apartment

Four-Story Up-to-Date Residential Building Rented Before Ready

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—Residents of Tokio are to have their first experience with life in a modern United States apartment. The first such building ever constructed here will soon be ready for occupancy.

Prof. K. Morimoto of the Imperial University has supervised the work of construction, with the assistance of his wife, and will direct the management.

The building is on the American style throughout. It is four stories high, fire and earthquake proof, built of reinforced concrete and contains forty-two apartments ranging from one room to six. More than 176 persons have filed applications for the apartments. As the government advanced part of the 500,000 yen which the building cost, it was stipulated that not more than one-third of the occupants may be foreigners.

On the first floor of the building are public rooms, including dining-rooms, reception rooms, banquet hall and stores. The bath rooms are furnished with foreign enameled tubs and have tile floors. The floors of other rooms are of polished wood.

The building is fitted with a hot water heating system, electricity, gas, telephone and other modern conveniences. The walls and ceilings are soundproof. The bath rooms are furnished with foreign enameled tubs and have tile floors. The floors of other rooms are of polished wood.

Frank Fredrickson Will Play for Victoria Once More

Big Blonde Icelander Signs Contract; Will Join Cougars at 'Peg

Freddie Comes to Terms With Lester Following Series of Conferences—Fans Will Be Gratified to Learn Pivot of Victoria Offensive Will Be on Deck Again—Foyston Yet to Sign for Season

Hockey Outlook Is Uncertain Now; Many Changes in Rosters of Clubs

"Frank Fredrickson signed contract today," was the intelligence contained in a telegram to The Colonist last night. Lester Patrick, local hockey mogul and manager of the Victoria Cougars, world's hockey champions, who is at present in Winnipeg with his men, preparing for the coming season.

With Freddie's name attached to a contract, Lester now only has one of last year's Cougars in the person of Frank Foyston, who has not entered the fold. Foyston is engaged in the meat business in Seattle, and appears loath to forsake that work to do the steel blades once again. Whether he will play this year will be a thing which the future will determine.

Lester Patrick, before leaving Victoria for the Manitoba Capital with his men, was in constant communication with the big blonde Icelander, but was unable to get him to sign a contract. However, since reaching Winnipeg, Lester had several conferences with Freddie, and the two have come to terms. Local fans will be gratified to learn this morning that the pivot of the Victoria offensive will be in his accustomed place in mid-ice when the hockey song sounds.

Has Made Memorable Name
Frank Fredrickson has made a name in hockey that will live forever. Freddie, one of the main cogs in the local machine, whose remarkable performance with the Victoria Cougars has earned for him an enviable reputation in the hockey realm, has played a stellar brand of hockey on the Coast, and has impressed the many thousands of fans who have seen him in action with his splendid ability.

Victoria fans are not unmindful of the form he displayed the first season he was with the local team, after coming from Winnipeg, where he was captain of the famous Falcon club, which won the Allan Cup and Olympic championship in 1920. His dash, speed and daring were the cornerstones of the Cougars' success. He led the league in scoring one year, tied Bernie Morris' record for the scoring laurels for the circuit, and has been the biggest goal getter on the Cougars' roster.

Packing around with him a healthy telling shot, Freddie is the story of rival goals. They realize that when he travels up or down the ice in their direction, trouble is at hand. Freddie is very cunning in his handling, and enjoys outwitting his opponents when it comes to suggesting the help with the elusive rubber.

Mighty Factor in Team's Success
Freddie was a mighty factor in Victoria's success last year, in first capturing the championship of the Western Canada Hockey League, and later the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's hockey title. Frank labored indefatigably to bring victory to Lester's club, and aided valiantly by his teammates, Patrick succeeded in landing the world's hockey honors for Victoria, B.C.

With Freddie's name signed, Patrick now has ten of the story of the tour which the Cougars will take shortly in Eastern Canada. Those who are with Lester in Winnipeg now going through the training process are Happy Holmes, Gordie Fraser, Jack Walker, Harold Hirt, Jacko Anderson.

Boosters' Club Is Duly Formed

Organized Support Behind Veterans' Football Club—Team for Game Saturday

That the Veterans have a goodly measure of support behind them in their efforts to improve the class of football played here and give Victoria good representation in the Pacific Coast League was made evident by the packed meeting held for the purpose of forming the "Boosters' Club" for the support of the football club.

The Boosters' Club will work as a separate entity, but will be represented at all the weekly meetings of the football club.

The team was also picked last night to play St. Salvator's at Vancouver on Saturday. The following twelve players were picked: J. H. MacKenzie, S. J. Hille, C. Morrison, J. B. Lambert, R. Peschey, C. W. Geiger, B. H. Aaronson, H. F. Hepburn, J. R. Hiberson, A. F. Thomas, E. J. Naylor, and C. W. Geiger.

While the majority of the Coast and Prairie clubs have retained most of last season's stars, the Victoria Boosters are combining for new material and a number of new faces will fight it out with the veterans for regular berths.

The Victoria Cougars, present holders of the Stanley Cup, have already started a strenuous campaign of training, and after limbering up on the artificial ice sheet here will launch upon a barnstorming tour of the West, where they will engage against Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, entries in the National Hockey League.

The Saskatchewan Hawks will get down to active training on November 18, while the other clubs are at present devoting their training to indoor workouts.

The Vancouver Maroons, Frank Patrick, leader of the Vancouver Maroons, will depend very largely on stars of last season. Portland has taken over the Regina club virtually intact, although prospects are that the team will be strengthened before the official season opens. Calgary is well fortified.

Baskatoon, under the guiding hand of "Newsy" Lalonde, promises to be right in the fight, and the club's stock has materially improved with the announcement that Corbett Denenny, the "Dancing Dervish," will again be with the Baskatoon team.

Kenny MacKenzie, Edmonton magazine, having sold Simpson, Morrison and Hickey to New York, traded Toggan and MacKenzie to Portland for Norman Shore and Claude, will practically have to build his team.

University School Win From Normal

Sixteen to Four Final Score of Intermediate League Fixture Played Yesterday

The University School rugby team scored a decisive win over the Normal School fifteen in the intermediate league fixture played yesterday afternoon at the University School grounds by a score of 16 to 4. The hard state of the grounds gave both teams plenty of opportunity to show their speed and some splendid three-quarter work.

In the first half the University boys crossed the Normal line for three tries, one of which was converted to bring their total to eleven, while they held their own line clear. In the second half another try and convert brought their total to sixteen, while a drop kick gave Normal their four points.

Reg. Wenman, former star of the intermediate club, Bay Wanderers, opened the score for the University about ten minutes after the start, when he went through on a solo run and planted the ball between the posts. Hartley converted easily. Following a penalty kick, which was blocked by one of the Normal men, Wenman secured the ball and went through for his second touchdown. Hartley failed to convert. Moore put the cap on the scoring for the period a few minutes before time, when he went through from centre and placed the ball between the posts. Hartley again failed to convert.

At the opening of the second half the Normal seemed to get together better and several dangerous rushes were made. They scored the University's fourth try on a three-quarter run near the flag. Reg. Wenman, from the difficult angle, made a beautiful kick and added the extra points. Campbell, about a minute before the final whistle, saved Normal from a whitewashing by dropping a splendid goal. Several players on both sides were knocked out during the progress of the game on account of the hardness of the ground, but none were seriously injured. Wallace, of the Normal team, had his knee put out near the end of the game and was forced to retire. Mr. Simpson refereed and the teams were as follows:

University School: McDonald, Moore, Tye, Graham, Begg, Westmacott, McNeill, Sturges, McLeod, Bernard, Hartley and G. Wenman.

The Duke Arrives

DOG fanciers will be interested to learn of the arrival in Victoria of the smallest passenger on board the steamship, Monrovia. Brightly out under the care of the Dominion Express Company, the two-year-old Yorkshire terrier, Duke of Cherry Orchard, arrived safely, and is now at the home of his importer, Mrs. H. E. Burdick, at "Babbacombe," Royal Oak.

This dog has won prizes at important English shows, and should prove a valuable addition to its owner's kennel.

Duncan Basket Teams Coming To Play Against Locals Saturday

Girls' and Men's Teams From Up-Island City Will Meet Axioms and Falcons at Y.M.C.A.—Two Fast Games Are Anticipated

Two first-class basketball games are billed for Saturday evening at the local Y.M.C.A., when the Duncan girls' and men's teams stack up against the local Axioms and Falcons.

The Axioms need no introduction to the local followers of basketball and can always be relied upon to give a good account of themselves, no matter how big their opponents are. Last year they cleaned up in the city and were only ousted out of the British Columbia championship after a stubborn fight. Kathie Forbes and Dorothy Goss are back on this year's line-up, so that the Duncan girls will have to watch out.

Victoria knows little of the Duncan girls' team, but if they are as good as last year, and Doc French says they're better, well, the game is going to be a real whirlwind from start to finish. This preliminary game will start at 8:15 sharp and will be immediately followed by the men's game.

The Falcons have the same line-up as last season, with the exception of Randy Tervo, late of the Belmont five, and for the past five weeks have been in hard training under the careful eye of Coach Bob Whyte. The boys are all feeling fit and are just waiting for the referee's whistle on Saturday night which will send them on their 1925-26 season. Jack McKenzie and Joe Ross will hold down the guard positions, while Skillings will do the work on the centre.

Tervo, Robertson, Hocking and Murray will alternate the forward positions. The Duncan senior men are well known to Victoria in regards to basketball, and the local fans will remember the fine brand of ball this team has played in the past years. For this reason one of the speediest games in this coming season is anticipated. There is only a limited number of reserved tickets and these can be procured from the Y.M.C.A. by phoning 2980.

Cardiff Obtains Scottish Players

Welsh Soccer Club Strengthening Ranks in Effort to Climb From Lowly Position

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Some wholesale transfers from the Scottish League clubs to Cardiff City in the First Division of the English League have been effected this week. Cardiff, who were cup finalists last season, are in a bad position this year, their place, second from the bottom of the first string table, being none too promising. In an effort to repair their shattered chances the Welshmen are searching for promising material among the clubs north of the Cheviots, and as a result, Cassidy of the Celtic, has joined Hugh Ferguson, Motherwell's centre forward, in the Welshmen's ranks. MacLaughlin, Clyde's outside right, has also been signed on, and all three will appear against Leicester City at Cardiff on Saturday.

Ferguson's transfer fee was stated to be the largest in the history of Scottish football, while the aggregate of the three Scottish players' fees amounts to somewhere in the vicinity of $10,000, approximately $50,000.

Oak Bay Council Supports Zoning Scheme in Area

Municipal Zoning By-Law Now Only Requires Final Passing—Five Areas Set Aside for Stores, Etc.

New Shed at Park Erected

The Oak Bay Council decided at its meeting this week that municipal zoning would be put into effect without delay. A by-law covering this matter has been considered by the Council, and now only awaits final approval, which will be given at the next regular meeting.

The zoning by-law, when put into force, will prohibit any person, firm or corporation from erecting factories, warehouses, public garages or stores in Oak Bay, except in the following areas:

1. Along Oak Bay Avenue from Poul Bay Road to Monterey Avenue.
2. The area to the west of a line drawn from Elgin Road to Cadboro Bay Road, and then along Cadboro Bay Road to Estevan Avenue.
3. The area now occupied by stores at the terminus of the car line at Newport Avenue.
4. Eight lots at the corner of Central Avenue and St. Patrick Street.
5. Eight lots at the corner of Estevan Avenue and Dunlevy Street.

The small shed for dressing accommodation at the Oak Bay Municipal Park, which was authorized by the Council to be built at a cost of $250, has been completed and is ready for use now.

wood by-election, in which continuance of patronage was advocated. He would not go as far as to say that the member for Grand Forks-Greenwood was responsible for the publication.

Mr. Dugald McPherson (Grand Forks-Greenwood) replied that document, edited it, and corrected it, and moreover I am proud of it."

Stool Pigeons

The only thing that the Premier had said in his speech of the previous day had been his adherence to the absentee voting system, said Mr. Twigg. The Premier had also endorsed, at a banquet of the Union of Municipalities, a continuance of the use of stool pigeons. This was in keeping with his endorsement of absentee voting, which was the most outrageous manner of exercising the franchise, and especially was the way in which the absentee voting had been carried out open to criticism.

In the recent Federal election, examination of the lists used in the Provincial election the previous year had disclosed that in Vancouver there were nearly 2,300 names that could not be checked up with residents at the addresses given. It would have been impossible to have done so, because many voters were registered as residing on MoLeau playgrounds, others in Burrard Inlet and still others in the Georgia Street viaduct.

Premier Oliver: "Your statements should be supported with proofs."

Mr. Twigg: "Will you state your Government on the voters' lists being free from such fictitious addresses?"

Premier Oliver: "I will state my Government on anything that the Government is responsible for."

After congratulating the lady member for Vancouver (Mrs. M. E. Smith) on her appointment to the Tariff Board, the speaker suggested that there was one thing she should endeavor to prevent being imported—voters.

"Do the members for Vancouver City feel happy in having been elected on such a voters' list?" asked Mr. Twigg.

Premier Oliver: "The registrar of voters is an old Conservative, appointed by the Conservative Government years ago. If he is not carrying out the provisions of the Act in respect to the proper registration of voters he will be dismissed."

Says More Threats

Mr. Twigg: "More threats. Does the Premier dare to stand up and say that he is satisfied with the way in which the absentee vote was carried out?"

Premier Oliver: "As far as I know, it was carried out all right. There were several cases before the courts and nothing was proved to the contrary."

The Premier asked that Mr. Twigg give him any evidence he had to support the suggestion that there were irregularities in the Vancouver lists.

"Mr. Twigg, I will be pleased to attend you in your office with the proofs later."

Mr. G. G. McGeer

After gently twitting Brigadier-General Victor Odlum with his desire to achieve Cabinet rank, the speaker made brief reference to the freight rates issue, saying that he hoped that after the Federal election of last week Mr. G. G. McGeer would be separated from the Government cheque book. Freight rates should never have been made a political issue, said the speaker.

"The Conservatives made it such," interjected the Premier.

"When?"

"When Mr. Stevens made a speech in Dominion Hall about the freight rates, in June, 1924, and another at Revelstoke."

Motor Tourists' Tax

Mr. Twigg said he would offer a suggestion to the Government in the form of constructive criticism. He thought that it would be wisdom on the part of the Government to impose a wheel tax for a small amount on motor tourists. They came here, used the roads, were provided with free camp sites, and except for the amount collected in gasoline tax on gasoline used, contributed nothing. British Columbia was an attractive country, and these motor tourists should pay for their enjoyment of it. He would make a tax, a light one, but he thought that it would be a fair contribution on the part of the Government to impose a wheel tax for a small amount on motor tourists. University Site

In connection with the construction of the University of British Columbia, said Mr. Twigg, the University Loan Bill of 1920 provided that no expenditures should be made without the authority of the Board of Governors. No order-in-council had been made authorizing expenditures until June of this year.

Reference having been made the previous day by the leader of the Opposition to drinking on election day in the Liberal Committee Rooms in Greenwood during the Grand Forks-Greenwood by-election, Hon. Dr. MacLean, Minister of Finance, rose and asked permission to categorically deny the allegation that he was present when any drinking was going on, or his knowledge or consent.

Mr. Pooley replied: "I was in the committee rooms at your invitation and you were with me, and I saw men drinking in the vault of the room."

Hon. Dr. MacLean: "I want to say that if such was the case it was not with my knowledge, or with my consent. I knew nothing about it and did not see it."

A Local Case

Continuing, Mr. Twigg said that there had been an incident in the Parliament Building which showed that the presence of liquor could be easily detected at times. An old employee of the Government, a man with twenty-six years honorable service to his credit, had been discharged because, while he was in a room, a number of others had come in and some person had brought a bottle of beer or more potent refreshment and it had been consumed.

This man had been dismissed without a hearing by a deputy minister. Any man, especially one with such a fine record of service, was entitled to a hearing.

Attack on Brewer

The speaker said he regretted the absence of the Attorney-General, for he wished to say something of the administration of his department. The manner in which the liquor and beer control was being carried out was far from satisfactory. The control of the beer situation in Vancouver seemed to be in the hands of a man named Reifel, a brewer. It was suggested that a ring controlled by this man had almost created a monopoly in the sale of beer in Vancouver, with the result that the quality of beer was not as good as it should be for the price charged. Rumor had it that this Reifel practically controlled sixty of the licenses for beer in Greater Vancouver.

He was told, and while his information might not be right, still the belief existed, that one reason why neither sandwiches or cigars could be purchased in beer parlors was that it would detract from and reduce the sale of beer and thus reduce Mr. Reifel's profits.

After referring to the closing of the New Westminster brewery, which, he said, was not satisfactorily explained in the evidence in the police court proceedings, Mr. Twigg declared that a beer licence had been refused to the Halfway House, near Esquimalt, on application of a man named Paton, but later it was found that a former member of the Liquor Control Board who was at the time an employee of the Government.

A man named Levy had been refused a licence on the Malahat for an hotel, and was told that no beer shops would be permitted on the highway, but later on a licence was granted to a place at Mill Bay which was not even an hotel.

Peace River Block

Mr. Twigg said that he would make another constructive suggestion. It was that the Premier take action to recover from the Dominion Government the Peace River block, which had been transferred in trust to the Federal Government to be used for railway purposes. The Dominion had not utilized it for the purpose for which it had been given, and should return it or give railway transportation to the areas, which he thought might be done by connecting with the P.C.E.

Dealing further with the Grand Forks-Greenwood election, Mr. Twigg charged that the farmers had been intimidated by a Government employee who had told them that it was the intention of the Government to press for the immediate payment of irrigation arrears unless they voted for the Liberal candidate, Mr. McPherson. Just prior to the election, he said, action had been taken against one farmer, as a warning to others. This had been discontinued two days before the election. The farmers had been told that there was no use then promising to vote Liberal and not doing so, because it would be possible to tell how they voted. The ballots were small, folded but once, and had pencils had been provided, so, declared the speaker, it was indeed easy to detect how voters exercised their franchise.

In addition to this "intimidation of the farmers," a promise of $5,000 for irrigation purposes had been made on the eve of the election.

In addition the chief law officer of the Crown, the Attorney-General, had stood on the public platform and had made a promise of further benefits if the Liberals were elected. In order that there might be no mistake, Mr. Twigg, he would read from a memorandum made at the time of a speech of Mr. Manson: "I am informed by Dr. Sutherland that there is $5,000,000 asked for in excess of the amount available for public works. We might as well be frank about it; it is reasonable to suppose that your good friend Mr. McPherson can get more for you than we can. A man who is sitting to the left of the Speaker?"

Defends Doukhobors

Another feature of the campaign, charged Mr. Twigg, was the "deliberate and diabolical" persecution of the Doukhobors. There was nothing like it in the history of the English-speaking race.

The Doukhobors were not like Canadians either in their religion or ways of living, but they were an industrious people, a people whose religion did not permit them to smoke, drink or eat meat. They were good farmers, and they kept their homes clean. They did not want to send their children to school because they claimed that they might learn the things which they objected to. The boys and girls to school was an old one, and for years it had been left pretty much alone. In 1922, however, the School Board of Grand Forks took steps to fine some of them for not doing so, and had a warrant of execution issued against their property to collect the fines amounting to approximately $200.

"The Provincial Police would not serve the warrant," said the speaker, "because the Attorney-General would not let them."

Then had followed a most unprecedented proceeding. The Grand Forks School Board had to apply for a mandamus to compel the Attorney-General to carry out the order of the court. After application had been made for the writ the Attorney-General had instructed the police to carry out their duty. But the school board had refused to withdraw the writ until the warrant was actually served. This was done and the application for the mandamus was withdrawn. The Attorney-General had suggested that the fine be returned.

Hon. Dr. MacLean took issue with the speaker on this point and declared that no suggestion had been made.

Mr. Twigg then proceeded to read from a letter sent by Hon. Mr. Manson to the school board: "If the situation is entirely satisfactory then it may well be that it is desirable to cultivate it by giving some consideration to the remission of the penalty."

Continuing, Mr. Twigg said that nothing had been done further in the matter until the eve of the by-election last Spring when Mr. McPherson, before accepting the Liberal nomination, but had "hot-footed" to Victoria and had conferred with the Attorney-General on the subject, and returned to Grand Forks and had addressed a special meeting of the school board where it was agreed that no publicity would be given to the proceedings.

Later the secretary of the school board, who was a Liberal, had written to the Attorney-General. In part the letter had stated:

"The citizens consider the present time the most opportune that has ever presented itself, not only from the standpoint of existing conditions and predicaments of the Doukhobors, but also from the standpoint of the necessity, the feasibility of action and the prospects of gratifying results to the Government."

"The campaign," charged the speaker, "was deliberately undertaken to help out the Government candidate at the election."

The Seizure

Arrests were made and fines were imposed amounting to approximately $3,500.

The Government was leasing a publication, and in this, said Mr. Twigg, it was stated that no personal effects of the Doukhobors had been taken. This statement was contrary to the facts, and he read from the published advertisement of the Government at the time of the sale, quoting different items including foodstuffs, farm implements, shirts, handkerchiefs, clothing, kitchen utensils and other commodities.

The same Government publication stated that the goods seized were appraised at $5,000, but he had been told by Casakoff, the Doukhobor leader, that they were valued at more than $15,000. They had been sold for about $1,300.

Mr. Twigg, that they had left their own country to escape persecution and had sought freedom under the British flag, but that the raid of the Doukhobors had not been worse than the seizure of their effects by the British Columbia Government.

In April, 1924, said Mr. Twigg, Peter Verigin, Doukhobor leader, had written to Premier Oliver asking for protection from the "nudes" or "anarchists" Doukhobors, who, he said, were responsible for the burning of the school buildings, and expressing a fear that if any attempt was made to use the community houses for school purposes they would be burned with consequent loss of life.

The Doukhobor leader had asked that these people be removed and had promised to give their names if the Government would send in an inspector.

Premier Oliver: "Not the names of those who burned the schools."

Mr. Twigg then read from the letter, one of which was "If the Government will appoint an inspector to pick out the 'nudes' or in other words anarchists, I will give exact list of names and surnames of such people."

The whole complaint had been about these "nudes" and it was reasonable to suppose that Peter Verigin had references to those who had burned the schools.

The Premier had not replied to this letter. Had he taken heed of the warning it might have been the death of Verigin and others, including Mr. John McKie, member for Grand Forks, would not have taken place. In any event there would not have been need for the "diabolical sale."

Seeks Suspension

He concluded by saying: "I challenge the Premier and demand the suspension of the Attorney-General from office for his work in the Grand Forks-Greenwood election until an investigation of his action in connection with it and the Doukhobor sale can be made."

At the Playhouses

COLUMBIA Tom Mix has returned to THEATRE his romantic West as Jim Lassiter. In "Zane Grey's Riders of the Purple Sage," the William Fox production which opened at the Columbia Theatre last night, Mix does some excellent acting as the soft-spoken two-gun hero. Tony carries his master through perilous situations and aids him with his horse sense. A mysterious masked boy rider is woven into the narrative, and the revelation of his identity is one of the surprises of the picture.

COLISEUM Opportunity to every THEATRE member of the stock company at the Coliseum to win laughs is provided in "A Day's Sport," the first-class comedy in which George Olsen makes such a great hit this week. It is right in line with the comedies that the Coliseum players offer, and there is singing and dancing that goes over big. "The Crowded Hour," a Paramount screen version of the Channing Pollock-Edgar Selwyn stage play in which Jane Cowl scored the hit of her career, comes to the screen offering, with Bebe Daniels in the star role.

DOMINION During the making of THEATRE Charlie Chaplin's great comedy-drama, "The Gold Rush," at the Dominion Theatre, in a scene where 5,000 men were employed as "sourdoughs" for the crossing of Chilkoot Pass, the most disappointed man in the whole outfit was the company physician. Not a man was hurt in the entire filming of this scene. This is remarkable from the fact that these men, untrained to "sounding" through deep snow and climbing over frozen ledges, were compelled to take many chances, and carrying packs on their backs, hauling sleds and other equipment over steep, precipitous trails. It is miraculous that this successful scene was not marred by accident.

PLAYHOUSE Gilbert Beldes, noted THEATRE war correspondent, magazine writer and editor, has been placed in charge of the "Lubin" scenario department. His first work was the editing of Barbara La Marr's screen version of John Galsworthy's "The White Monkey," which first National is offering at the Playhouse Theatre this week.

CAPITOL Dentists would go out of THEATRE business if humans were built along the plan of the trachodon, one of the species of prehistoric dinosaur which, after a death sleep of 18,000,000 years, came to life in "The Lost World" now showing at the Capitol Theatre. When a trachodon were out a tooth it was replaced by another. He had a reserve supply of another like 400 teeth in the lower jaw alone.

"Merry Widow" Scenes at Dominion Monday Show in Natural Colors

When the set was erected and the uniforms and gowns completed for the coronation scene of "The Merry Widow," which was filmed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio under the direction of Erich von Stroheim, their combined effect was so striking that it was decided to film the scene in natural colors. Some idea of the vividness of the coronation may be had when it is realized that the scene is laid within a tremendous cathedral, decorated in keeping with a nation's gala event, from the altar to the utmost pillar and nave, and peopled with innumerable characters in the full regalia of the highest court function. This spectacular scene is just one of the many that patrons will witness when the modernized film version of the famous operetta, "The Merry Widow," with Mae Murray in the title role, comes to the Dominion Theatre on Monday.

Blind Organist Will Play Chopin's Funeral March Next Monday

Lovers of music—organ music particularly—will be glad to learn that Dr. Alfred Hollins has promised to play several compositions, including here at his recital, Monday evening next on the organ of the Metropolitan United Church.
He, too, has expressed the sympathy and timely desire from the fact of his not having an opportunity to do so on his own organ in Scotland, to include in his programme Chopin's "Funeral March," or the occasion of the evening of a holiday to celebrate the anniversary of his death day.
It is said that Dr. Hollins plays this immortal march wondrously, mysteriously.

System of Single Tax Is Advocated

Mr. George Duncan Says Business Shows Strains of Undue Tax Burdens

Single tax takes back to the common treasury the land values the community has created, instead of leaving these values in the control of the first comers to the exclusion of those coming later. Mr. George Duncan, member of the House of Representatives of New Hampshire, and held lecturer of the Henry George Association, told a luncheon gathering in the Dominion Hotel yesterday afternoon, held under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the organization.
Mr. Duncan forecast the day when all communities would arrive at a point where the tax burden on productive industry would compel a search for a more logical and more equitable method of collecting revenue.

"When that day comes, I hope to see single taxers in key positions enabling them successfully to urge the advantages of single tax. We have not got to convert the whole population, the right men at the right positions will be all that is necessary to bring about the change," Mr. Duncan asserted.

The speaker observed that business already was showing the strains of undue tax burdens, and that everywhere the demand for relief of industry was being heard.
"There is only one source of income not restricted or destroyed by tax-

The luncheon was presided over by Mr. W. A. Jamieson, and was attended by many business men in interested in public affairs, and City Hall officials.

London Abandons Armistice Ball

Popular Outcry Brings Decision to Hold Religious Services Instead on Night

LONDON, Nov. 5.—In deference to the popular outcry, the great ball arranged for Armistice night in Albert Hall has been postponed, and the hall will be used instead for religious commemorative services.

A controversy has been raging for the last few days over the propriety of celebrating the Armistice anniversary with revelry, and while the merry making has had some defenders, the majority, including religious leaders, emphasized the view that it was inappropriate and especially offensive to those still suffering from the memory of their losses in the war.

Consequently the ball has been deferred until November 12, and the Prince of Wales has indicated his intention of attending, which he would decline to do if it were held Armistice night.

Indications are, nevertheless, that there will be plenty of jollification in London on the night of November 11, with numerous banquets and dances.

More Talesmen Needed
VANCOUVER, Nov. 5.—Justice D. A. McDonald instructed Sheriff Charles Macdonald this morning to summon 400 more talesmen to be on hand for the picking of the fruit combine cases jury.

That will make a total of 800 called for the present sittings. Talesmen get $3 per day, so the present sittings are proving expensive. The trial is expected to start within three weeks.

"Thumbs Up" Is Splendid Show, Audience Finds

Originals Score Decided Hit With 1925 Revue—Gene Pearson, Clever Female Impersonator, Is Star

"Thumbs Up," the Originals' 1925 show, which delighted last night's audience at the Royal Victoria Theatre, was indeed well-named.
It is not certain just how the show came to be christened "Thumbs Up." But it is easy to imagine a nearly empty theatre on the night of dress rehearsal, with only the stage director and a few of the elect in the gloomy depths behind the orchestra. It is easy to imagine the last left couches of that critical audience, the ironing out of the last of the imperfections in the smoothness of the embryo production. It is easy to visualize that critical director, satisfied at last, leaning back in a chair or that nearly empty theatre and saying "Thumbs up!"

The show itself is elaborate vaudeville. It contains just about everything that is entertaining, apparently, but acrobatics and sleight-of-hand, it will be presented again tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

Well-Dressed Teacher Has Effect on Pupils
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Appropriately and attractively dressed public school teachers are in favor with their superintendent. The superintendent maintains that teachers should be well dressed because of the mental effect upon the children.

"The clothes of the teacher are an ornament upon which the eyes of the children are bent more frequently than anywhere else," says the superintendent. "Also it is generally proved that whenever one is dressed properly and well, he or she is more optimistic and does better work."

Heels were first put on shoes to prevent a horseman's foot from slipping in the stirrup.

On several occasions recently the police received information which they kept secret that an attempt was being prepared against the Premier. A few days ago they obtained confirmation of these reports and the added information that the attempt would be made during the course of yesterday's celebration of the armistice with Austria.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the police entered a room in the Hotel Dragon, near the Châtelet Palace, where the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is situated, and surprised and arrested Zaniboni at the very moment he was about to leave on his alleged mission.

At the same time the authorities at Turin arrested General Louis Capello, who was on a train allegedly on his way out of the country. Both men are being held for the action of the courts.

Discovery of Alleged Plot to Assassinate Mussolini Led to Its Frustration During Celebration of Armistice

Guilty Man Is Arrested

ROME, Nov. 5.—Announcement of the frustration of an attempt against the life of Premier Mussolini, which was to have been made yesterday, while Rome was celebrating the seventh anniversary of the Armistice with Austria, created a political sensation throughout the country today.

In Rome the former Socialist deputy, Zaniboni, was arrested just at the moment, police said, when he was leaving his hotel to make the attempt. At Turin the retired general, Louis Capello, a prominent Mason, was arrested on a train leaving the country. Zaniboni's secretary also is held.

As a result of the affair, the Government has ordered the prefects throughout Italy to occupy all the Masonic Lodges subordinate to the Grand Orient in Rome, national headquarters for the Order.

Duncan School Board Meets

Pupils Will Participate in Armistice Day Function at Duncan War Memorial

DUNCAN, Nov. 5.—A bare quorum was present at the consolidated school board meeting held here last night. Trustees Dwyer, Hazell, Smythe and Stanhope being present.

A question whether the teachers should be given time off for the purpose of attending the Central Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention in Duncan, on a Friday and Saturday in the near future, was dealt with in the following resolution:

That the chairman of the board be authorized to grant leave of absence to any teacher making application to attend the Mid-

Island Teachers' Federation Convention, provided that half of the time asked for be the teacher's own.

This Boarding, it should be pointed out, is the opinion that it is desirable that any future convention of this kind should be held entirely in the teachers' time, as the Board deprecates any further encroachment on the time devoted to study.

In answer to a request from the Armistice Day Observance Committee, permission was granted for the school children to assemble at 11 o'clock in the morning of November 11, at the Memorial Cross on Station Street, under the supervision of their teachers, to participate in the service arranged for that day.

Delegates Are Warmly Greeted

Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters Entertained During Duncan Gatherings

DUNCAN, Nov. 5.—The Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters are sparing no effort to afford entertainment for the delegates of their respective Grand Lodges, which are now in session here, representatives being present from all parts of the province.

The programme presented last evening in the Agricultural Hall by the Cowichan Amateur Orchestral Society, with the delegates as the guest of honor, was outstanding. It should be pointed out that the fame of the Cowichan district as a musical centre. The spontaneous applause accorded spoke volumes. The librarian reported that several new members had joined the library, and it was decided that anyone joining now their subscription would carry them till the end of 1926. The secretary gave her report of the Island District Conference, which was interesting and comprehensive. Thousand Dollar Fox Chase Merry Chase to Seekers

BRENTWOOD BAY, Nov. 5.—Great excitement occurred at Mount Newton on Wednesday, when a fox belonging to the Rev. E. M. Bruce, made its escape from the pens in Mr. Bruce's grounds. A party collected, headed by Councillor Hagan, and chased the animal along the road as far as Mr. Bolderos, when it doubled back, ran as far as the Westinghouse Place, where Mr. Wm. Darrington was working. The party were joined by Mr. Henry Norris, who had his car, and with the dogs, chased it to that point, when it was lost. The dogs next found the scent and chased it as far as Mr. Walter Thompson's, when it was again lost. Finally the postmen reported seeing it at the Church Road. The chase was again taken up and the party were joined by the Rev. J. R. A. Bastin and Mr. Fox. The animal ran down the valley to Hagan's Creek, where it was finally captured by Mr. Berry. The fox is valued at $1,000, being one of the most valuable on the island.

The King's Christmas Card

QUEEN ELIZABETH OPENING THE ROYAL EXCHANGE, JANUARY 23, 1911

ONE of the proudest and happiest days of Queen Elizabeth's reign was January 23, 1911, when she came to state into the city to dine with that prince of English merchants, Sir Thomas Gresham, who had invited her to open the new House on Cornhill, which he had built at his own expense for the benefit of his fellow-citizens.

After expressing herself with eloquent and gracious words in commendation of all she saw, Queen Elizabeth gave the building the name of the Royal Exchange, and presented the magnificent and unique pearl sword, which emblem of Royal favor is now included in the insignia of the Lord Mayor of London.

from points up and down the island. The G.W.V.A. orchestra, of Nanaimo, played the music and a great number of encores were sought. The Qualicum Bakery catered for the refreshments, which were served by members of the club as waiters. The beautiful decorations which were in keeping with the Hallowe'en merriment were much admired. Mayor Penderay and Mrs. Penderay, of Victoria, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schell, of Red Gap, attended the dance, enjoying it immensely. The dance was kept up with much enjoyment to a late hour.

PASTIME CLUB HOLDS HALLOWE'EN DANCE AT NANOOSSE BAY

The programme was as follows: Vocal solo, "My Old Shako," Mr. Alfred Palmer; vocal solo, "Fallen Leaf," Mrs. Knight; recitation, "A Runaway Grandmother," Miss Beatrice Griffin; vocal solo, "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," Mr. P. Edmonds; violin solo, "Broken Melody," Mr. Nelson Griffin; vocal solo, "Smilin' Through," Mrs. Knight; piano solo, (a) Nocturne, (b) Waltz, Miss Beatrice Griffin; vocal solo, "The Admiral's Room," Mr. Alfred Palmer; violin solo, "Cambrion," Mr. Nelson Griffin; vocal solo, "There's a Land," Mrs. Knight; recitation, "Darlie," sketches, Miss Beatrice Griffin; vocal solo, "On the Road to Mandalay," Mr. Percy Edmonds. God Save the King.

At the close of the concert the country store tombola prizes were distributed by Messrs. Dawes and W. Clarke, causing much amusement, after which dancing was enjoyed to excellent music furnished by the local orchestra. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of the institute, the supper room being prettily decorated with flowers supplied by the kindness of Mrs. Sandover. The ladies of the institute also wish to thank Mr. Marshall, who ably arranged the sign for the country store.

At times when sales of any brand shows signs of falling off the price of its cork rises, as an incentive to waiters to aid in stimulating the sale of this particular kind. Waiters everywhere here now collect champagne bottle corks as eagerly as they do to tips.

Selling Wave Forces Prices To Drop Back

Bullish Enthusiasm Curbed—Afternoon Session Has Triumph for Shorts—Steel and Coppers High

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Stock prices finally succumbed to selling pressure today despite repeated attempts of speculators for the advance to maintain bullish enthusiasm by bidding up recent favorites. Closing quotations disclosed a large number of losses ranging from one to six points, interspersed with a smaller number of moderate gains.

Trading started off at a terrific pace, but slowed up during the afternoon, the day's sales falling just below the 3,000,000 mark, making it the eighth consecutive two-million-share full session.

Strong Opening Tone: Opening prices displayed a strong tone as a result of a large accumulation of overnight buying orders, apparently attracted in part by the widespread publicity given to yesterday's record-breaking session.

United States Steel common touched the highest price in eight years at 134 1/2, but later sold off to 132 1/2, and then rallied to 132 1/2, off 1/2, on the day.

General Motors broke through its old high of 14 1/2 before the end of the first half-hour, and then sank to 14 1/4 during the late morning reaction, bounded up to another new record top at 14 1/2 in the afternoon and finally ended at 14 1/4, for a net gain of 1/2 point on the day.

Copper Strong: Copper moved upwards under the leadership of American smelters and Anaconda, each of which advanced more than two points to new 1925 high records at 154 and 15 1/2, respectively.

United States Realty broke over six points to 17 1/2, despite the announcement of the stock split-up and an increase in the dividend.

Time money and commercial paper were unchanged.

Total sales were 2,996,300 shares. Bond prices continued to move forward slowly in today's dull trading. Fluctuations again were narrow and considerably mixed with fresh buying developing for the copper company firms and semi-speculative rail issues.

Arrangements for new financing oversubscribed, in the case of the United States Steel, which is expected within the next fortnight.

British Clubmen Want Their Liquor

Delegation Serves Near-Ultimatum on Government—Restrictions Must Go

LONDON, Nov. 5.—What amounted to a virtual demand for the removal of all restrictions on clubs with regard to liquor was made today by a delegation from the 'Unionist' Club and other clubs, headed by Sir Her-

Nield, K.C., Conservative M.P., which waited upon Home Secretary Mr. William Joynson-Hicks.

Sir Herbert, who represented Conservative clubs with a membership of 6,000, declared the Licensing Act of 1911 was a coalition trick which the present government should not allow to remain on the statute books. The Baldwin government would be wise to ignore the outcry against the provision of the act. He declared it could be impossible for the clubmen to support Conservative members of the House of Commons or Conservative candidates "who will not definitely pledge themselves to support our manna."

Mr William Joynton-Hicks, who refused to express an opinion and declared himself "between the devil and the deep sea," said Sir Herbert's address was not the usual tone of deputations.

tion to ministers of the government. He said he would report the reputation's view to the cabinet and so that he would see a deputation of church members tomorrow on the session.
